The CROWNING TRIUMPH of COLORADO'S GREATEST CELEBRATION!

MAGNIFICENT, ILLUMINATED NIGHT RUN OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Each engine, cart and wagon will contain dozens of lighted torches, colored lights, fuses and boxes of red fire, the endeavor being to make each look like a seething mass of flame, instead of having any semblance to any vehicle. The run will begin at 8 o'clock immediately after dark this Saturday evening at the corner of Boulder and Cascade, going south on Cascade to Cucharas. The entire street will be lined with Elks displaying flaming torches and other fireworks. In every available spot along the route will be placed some kind of illumination, the procession of the department going down the center of the street on the dead run will make

NEWS NOTES FROM DENVER

Denver Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Denver, Aug. 2. Chief of Detectives Delaney is positive that William Morehouse, who [illegible] and Champa streets this morning is the assailant of 6-year-old Geraldine Hobbs. He bases his belief on a partial identification of the assaulted girl. According to Capt. Delaney Morehouse passed the Hobbs house yesterday [illegible] in the afternoon. Geraldine was in the front room talking to her mother; on sight of Morehouse the child rushed out of the house and innocently asked the peddler for the 10 cents he promised her. The mother notified the detectives and Capt. Delaney and Detective Sanders took Morehouse into custody as he was peddling in the neighborhood.

Albert Jasper, who engaged in a duel with Barney Boyce, the proprietor of a gambling house near Seventeenth and Curtis streets on Wednesday night, is still in the city jail, unable to secure bondsmen. The victims of the shooting are all on the road to recovery. None of them is as was first thought, seriously injured. In the course of a few days they will again be able to be about.

John L. Taylor, a Fort Collins grocerman, who was released from the county jail yesterday by order of Judge Hallett, was rearrested upon a criminal complaint sworn out by W. H. Dalke, the commission merchant, and brought back to the county jail to await another hearing.

It is probable that several hundred machinists will be ordered out by the local union within the next few days. It was stated on good authority this evening that every machine shop in the city will be forced to close if an attempt is made to restore the 10-hour day. Machinists all over the country struck for the 9-hour day and in most [illegible] Denver was one of the first cities to grant the machinists their demands and is said to be the first to break the agreement.

Game Commissioner Harris is going to take a trip to Delta county for the purpose of seeing if he cannot induce the people of that section to allow Wm. Radcliffe to return to his lake and take care of the Grand Mesa reservoirs and fish hatcheries.

The inventory of the estate of William Church was filed in the county court this morning by Administrator John D. Church. It shows the estate to be worth $50,000.

The case of Roy Pennington, charged with criminal assault on Jessie Kinfort, was continued until [illegible] Justice Rice's court this morning.

NEWS NOTES FROM VICTOR

Victor Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Victor, Aug. 2.—James McCarthy is the new superintendent of the water system of Victor. At a meeting of the city council the choice fell to Mr. McCarthy unanimously. Mr. McCarthy will assume his new position at once.

Last night a sneak thief entered the rooming house of Mrs. O'Brien of south Fourth street and stole $35 from the landlady's trunk. Mrs. O'Brien is of the opinion that while she was at the back door of her home listening to the music at the summer theater that a sneak thief entered by the front door and took the money.

It is stated that F. R. Rockwell has been appointed general superintendent of the Rio Grande Western railroad with headquarters at Grand Junction. Mr. Rockwell was until recently superintendent of the Florence & Cripple Creek R. R. [illegible]

Charles McGrew, a 16-year-old boy residing at Sixth street and Victor avenue, dislocated his shoulder by a fall last evening. Dr. Latimer attended the injured boy.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Shilling, Mrs. Harry E. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Small are among the Victorites attending the Quarto-centennial celebration at Colorado Springs.

GOLDFIELD

Special to the Gazette.

Goldfield, Aug. 2.—In Justice McGary's court this afternoon, H. G. Taylor swore out a warrant charging John and Thomas McChesney with stealing his red yearling bull. The McChesneys were arrested and were released upon $200 bond each. The men will have a hearing Monday at 10 a. m.

Dr. O. S. Proctor has returned from Oklahoma.

Mrs. Bassett, mother of Mrs. W. J. Doyle, left for Central City yesterday morning. She received word that her son, Star Bassett, had met with an accident which resulted in the breaking of his hip and she has gone to attend him.

C. G. Bugh, editor of the Times, has left for Colorado Springs to attend the editorial banquet.

Mrs. Tom Williams and son of Colorado Springs, are in the city on a visit to Mrs. Henry Teabout.

THE ANDERSON JURY AGAIN DISAGREED

Denver, Aug. 2.—The jury in the case of W. W. Anderson, charged with shooting, with intent to kill H. H. Tammen and F. G. Bonfils, after considering the testimony for six and one-half days, tonight reported an inability to agree upon a verdict. It was discharged by Judge Mullins. The shooting occurred Jan. 13, 1900, and was caused by a quarrel over efforts to secure the pardon of Alfred Packer from the penitentiary. This was the second trial, the first also having ended in a disagreement. The third trial has been set for August 26.

COAL MINERS AGAIN STRIKE AT FLORENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Florence, Aug. 2.—There is again trouble at the Ocean Wave coal mine and this morning 75 coal miners went out on a strike for a check weighman. It seems that for some time past there has been some dissatisfaction with the company's weighman and the miners complain that they have not been receiving fair treatment and this morning they held a meeting outside the mine and decided to quit work until better arrangements could be made. A committee was appointed to confer with the owners and if the conference is successful the strike will immediately be called off. This is an independent mine and not controlled by the C. F. & I. company. If the difficulty is not settled in a day or two the strike may be spread, as the Peanut coal mine is controlled by the same people and it is understood that the miners there will lend support to the Ocean Wave strikers if necessary and if this proves true fully 50 additional men will lay down their tools there. The output of these two coal mines is about 250 tons per day.

CRIPPLE CREEK NEWS NOTES

Cripple Creek Bureau
Colorado Springs Gazette.

Cripple Creek, Aug. 2.—The interesting case of [illegible] Winters vs. The Colorado Finance and Safety Deposit Co. filled the district court room with spectators today. The plaintiff is suing to recover $1,580 which he alleges was removed from his box in the defendant company's vault. The testimony introduced for the plaintiff today showed that on June 29, 1900, he cashed a check for $2,000 at the Bi-Metallic bank, and after securing the money in gold he deposited it in his box in the vault. On October 25, 1900, he went to the box to get the money and was surprised to find only one $20 gold piece left. The plaintiff today completed the direct testimony and one witness for the defendant company, Bruno Hobbs was examined. Mr. Hobbs told of the system in vogue at the vault and stated that Mr. Winters' presence would be necessary at the vault if the box were opened, as Mr. Winters had the only key to the box. The plaintiff is a city machinist.

Tomorrow afternoon at Union park the baseball game of the season will be played. The two teams will be made up of elective city officials and city firemen. The game will be called at 3 o'clock. Union park is being put in good condition for Sunday's game between Omaha and Colorado Springs. Tall poles are being placed along the east fence and a canvas will be stretched between them to prevent the crowd who gathered on the hill overlooking the ground last Sunday from seeing the game without paying.

The partially decomposed remains of an infant child were found in a prospect hole on the Jones ranch about three miles below town this morning. Deputy Coroner Boylan was notified and went to the scene. The remains were removed to Lampman's undertaking parlors. The parents of the unfortunate little one are not known, but an effort will be made to hunt them down.

Out-of-town arrivals at the National hotel today were: Mrs. A. D. Piver, G. A. Parfet, Paul Carpenter, Sam Felden, R. W. Kuhn, F. A. Moriarty, W. K. Ingall, R. E. McKinney, Ed P. Costigan and W. J. Dillon, of Denver; D. F. DeMaster, W. P. Tisner, G. A. Jennings, D. Banks, Jr., H. C. Castles and H. W. Wilmot, of New York; F. W. Hunton and A. B. Turner, of Boston; Mrs. A. T. BULL HILL PRODUCTION

July Was One of the Banner Months of the Year---Detailed Output From Various Properties.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, August 2. A steady production is being made at Bull Hill mines and leases. During the past month there has been nothing to hinder production, and as a result July will rank as one of the banner months of the year in this repect. From the Vindicator, about 11,500 tons of ore was sent to market during the month. The grade of this ore was as good if not better than has ever been sent from this property. The Weaver and Steelsmith lease on the Findley sent out 400 tons of $30 ore during the month. Considerable new work in extending levels has been in progress and the same shoot is also opened in the Mountain Beauty ground, which is operated by these lessees. Symes & Delaney, on the Deadwood, closed a shipment of 25 tons of $60 ore this week, which makes a total of 75 tons of three and one-half ounce ore for the month. The work for the past month on the Deadwood lease has been confined principally to the opening of the ore shoot at the 235-foot level. From Judge Goddard's lease on the Pinto of the Free Coinage company a production of 300 tons of three-ounce ore was made during the month. The Independence Consolidated produced 600 tons during July, the average grade of which was near two ounces. The property has been more than paying running expenses for the past two months. Dalzell, Wilson, the lessees on the Anna J. of the Golden Cycle company, sent to market over 1,200 tons during the past month. The ore averaged about one and one-half ounces to the ton. [illegible] Berry & Co., operating a lease on the Wilson of the Free Coinage company, closed a shipment yesterday of [illegible] tons. This shipment was divided into two grades and consisted of 20 tons of $30 ore and 10 tons of high grade that is expected to run near five ounces to the ton. The production from the Theresa for July was 160 tons, with an average value of $25 to the ton. Of this amount Terrell & Barton sent out 100 tons and Tiffany & Woodworth 60 tons. P. Owenby & McFarland, of the Wrockloff lease on the Pharmacist, only made a small production during the month. Their total output did not exceed 100 tons. However, the ore averaged near four ounces to the ton.

The surface workings of the Little King of the Ben Hur company on Gold hill, under lease to Hansen Bros. & Jensen, have been sublet to Patrick King and associate. The shaft on this block has been sunk to a depth of 180 feet where the lessees encountered good ore and made two or three shipments several months ago. A winze was sunk from this level showing that the ore continued for some distance downward, and then work was commenced in the Good Will tunnel in order to get under the ore shoot and stope out the ore from a depth of 300 or 400 feet. King will have the shoot to develop from the 180-foot level upward and is of the opinion that shipments can be started in a very short length of time. The ore body carried values of from $35 to $90 in the winze. The sub-lease runs until July 1, 1902, at royalties of 35 per cent straight.

In the Good Will tunnel level the Hansen Bros. have carried the drift north for a distance of 160 feet and are confidently expecting to encounter the downward extension of the shoot with a little more work. Occasional good assays are had although the vein does not as yet run pay.

Roerig & McCullah, leasing a block of the Mars Consolidated property just east of the city, have a new shaft down to a depth of 40 feet, at which point they have opened up a vein of promising appearance. No pay assays have been had. The vein is a little over a foot in width.

ORIENTAL LABOR IS INVOLVED IN STRIKE

San Francisco, Aug. 2. Conferences have been held today with a view of bringing the local strikes to a close. While no appreciable result has been reached, Mayor Phelan who is laboring hard to bring about an adjustment, expresses confidence that the controversy will end with the week. The new feature of the day involved oriental labor. The Japanese labor union, voluntarily called upon Japanese employed on the water front to stand with the strikers and the Chinese crew of a steamer Coptic was prohibited from working ashore by the federal authorities in pursuance of orders in response to a protest by labor [illegible] that the Chinese crew of the Coptic was doing work ashore. Chief Inspector Dunn received [illegible] from Assistant Secretary Taylor [illegible] Collector Powderly to order the Chinese back to the Coptic and to prevent any further infractions of the law. Eight or nine vessels were [illegible] the water front today, as [illegible] yesterday.

At the Pacific Mail dock the order of the freight and baggage placed aboard the Coptic and on the dock at 1 o'clock, its usual time for sailing. Men have been secured to handle the cargo of the American Maru and City of [illegible].

SPLIT THE SWITCH AND DELAYED TRAFFIC

The traffic on the street car line was badly delayed a little before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, by a car jumping the switch.

As the motor car, with trailer attached was taking the switch at 10th street the latter car "split the switch," and failed to take it. The result was a tangle [illegible] the traffic, which delayed traffic for about half an hour.

Before it could be put on the tracks again seven cars were tied up at the time, and hundreds of people anxious to reach the Springs to see the great parade almost ruined their tempers.

The car was in charge of Motorman [illegible] Nobody was injured, and the car was soon in working order [illegible] the rest of the day.

STREET CAR TRAFFIC BROKE ALL RECORDS

The four minute service between Manitou and Colorado City was greatly appreciated by the residents of the latter city yesterday. Practically the whole town turned out to see the parade in the Springs. Some of the cars carried enormous crowds, which reached the [illegible] o'clock in the afternoon and still registered on the dial. The condition of the inside of the car can be imagined when it is known that the car seats but 42 persons.

Not only was this car jammed inside, but it carried a number of persons on the [illegible]

Superintendent Henry of the street railway who happened to be on Colorado avenue at the time, stopped the car and ordered the men down. They did climb down after much effort, so great was their desire to reach the Springs. Your correspondent was unknown to those in charge of the car.

The traffic on this line was far heavier than that of the 4th of last July, which was a record breaker.

POLICE ARE HAVING A QUIET TIME

Business was dull yesterday at the police office. No arrests were made the day before. Marshal Birdsall says that he is celebrating in Colorado Springs is keeping him away, as this city is practically deserted.

No arrests have as yet been made in connection with the Hoffman house burglary.

BRIEF CITY ITEMS

SAW THE PARADE—Mr. Beyle, the well-known furniture dealer on Colorado avenue, took a large party to see the parade yesterday afternoon. He placed chairs in his large furniture wagon and so made a very comfortable conveyance. Most of the stores in Colorado City were closed yesterday during the great parade.

LECTURER ILL—The Rev. J. A. Smith, who gave an able address before the American Annuity association last Saturday evening, at the W. C. T. U. hall, is seriously ill. He was forced to go to a lower altitude for a time, and so left for his home in Kansas last Wednesday. It is thought that he will be able to return later and take charge of the work.

A GOOD DISPLAY—The money which the town expended to build the float in yesterday's parade was well spent. The model cost $300 and was one of the best floats in the entire parade.

Mr. Irwin, the president of the new Republican club, is feeling better after his slight illness.

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT IT?

Do you realize that Dr. Ellison's claims are founded on sound reason, from the fact that he treats certain diseases as a specialty? He does not scatter his forces over the entire field of diseases, but treats Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever and the Chronic Diseases of men, women and children. If you suffer, see him. Consultation and examination free. Office, 24 North Tejon street.

Dr. Ellison treats Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Hay Fever and the Chronic Diseases common to men, women and children, devoting his professional time exclusively to this class of practice. In every vocation specialty work is now demanded. This is notably true when life and health are at stake. It is then that the best medical service the profession affords should be procured. This is only possible when you employ the physician who has attained professional skill by making investigation concerning the care and treatment of certain diseases. If you suffer from acute disease, call your family physician. If you suffer from chronic disease, consult Dr. Ellison. In the past three years nearly two thousand tubercular lung and throat cases have been under treatment by his attenuated sulphur, with the lowest death rate on record. The sulphur treatment can be taken at your home. Examination free. Office, 24 North Tejon street (over Craigue's grocery store.) Office hours, from 9 to 12, 2 to 5, 7 to 8; Sundays, from 2 to 3.

THE NEWS OF MANITOU

GAZETTE'S BRANCH OFFICE :-: CHAS. A. GRANT'S STORE

WILL START A SUMMER SCHOOL

Manitou is soon to have a new educational institution. The new school is to be of a religious character and anybody may have the benefit of its courses. Free will on all spiritual matters is one of the fundamental principles taught, so instead of having a stipulated sum for tuition, each person attending will give what may seem proper, of his own free will.

The sessions of the school will be held in a large tent on Canon avenue, which will be erected near the Spencer cottage.

An able corps of teachers has already been engaged. The list includes Judge Clarkson of Omaha, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fillmore of Unity, Mrs. Annie Rix Militz of Chicago and Mrs. Grace M. Brown of Denver.

The school will be opened on August 1 and will be continued one month. The first address will be on "Practical Christianity" and will be given by Charles Fillmore of Kansas City.

Two sessions will be held each week day, one beginning at 9 a. m. and the other commencing at 8 p. m.

John W. Kriegr has the full particulars of the new institution, which may be obtained by inquiring of him.

FREEING THE TOWN OF SUSPICIOUS CHARACTERS

Marshal Crego is working hard to tell the men who are responsible for recent burglaries and to stop any further business of the sort. He has appointed two new night men who will be employed for the rest of the tourist season. There were several tramps in town yesterday morning begging for food at various houses.

The marshal ordered them to leave town at once which they did promptly.

There has been considerable trouble in town with tramps and the marshal is determined to stop the nuisance.

INJURED BY SLIDING DOWN PIKE'S PEAK

Tom Wilson, for some time connected with the Pike's Peak Daily News, was seriously injured Thursday noon while attempting to slide down the Peak.

He had heard many stories of successful toboggan slides down the rails of the Cog road, and so he thought that he would try one for himself. Finding a plank he placed it on the rails and was soon speeding down the mountain. But he had only gone as far as the first curve when he was thrown with great force from his rude sled, and badly hurt.

He was terribly gashed about the head and face and his nose was broken.

The last man on record before Tom Wilson to try this perilous ride were a Mr. Henney of St. Louis and Dr. Green of Colorado Springs, some two weeks ago. They reached the bottom without any bodily injury although their clothes were badly damaged.

PERSONAL MENTION

Among the guests at the Barker is F. W. Dreitsmeimer a prominent mining man of Denver.

Ray Hymer of Deadwood, S. D., is a guest at the Ruxton.

Miss Susie Allnickle, a prominent resident of Dallas, Tex., is at the Manitou.

The traveling freight and passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific system E. H. Calef is visiting G. E. Graham at the Barker house.

Master Ernest Ballard of Cripple Creek who is one of the boys to publish the little paper called the Cripple Creek Star, was a visitor in town Wednesday.

Fred W. Clark, head architect of the Union Pacific, is staying at the Sunnyside house.

A party of four Rome, Georgia, people are staying at the Cliff. They are J. L. Bass and Mrs. Bass, and Misses Louise and Susie Bass.

Miss Blanche Price, Miss Jessie Kilgore Wardlow and Miss Letia Jones are at the Mansions. They all come from Oxford, Miss.

C. D. Tarbell is confined to the house by sickness. He is reported as some better.

L. J. Alexander of Little Rock, Ark. went with a party yesterday on a fishing trip to Castles. The party included some guests of the hotel and some friends from Colorado City. They expect to be gone about four or five days.

On August 10 the Christian Endeavor society will have an excursion to Cripple Creek. The party will go by the way of the new Short Line, a rate of $2.50 for the round trip having been secured. Members of the society and friends are invited to enjoy this outing.

Last night there was a large progressive euchre party at the Mansions. This was an exceptionally pleasant affair.

On Wednesday evening there was a delightful musicale at the Sunnyside house. There was a large number of persons who enjoyed the feast.

A party of guests of the Sunnyside started on a trip to the Half Way house yesterday afternoon.

The regular weekly hop of the Barker house was held last evening. The good music and the delightfully cool evening made the dance very enjoyable.

EFFICIENT CORPS—The waiters of the Mansions were highly honored last night. They assisted at the banquet given at the Antlers, and the great satisfaction that they gave the guests shows that the Mansions has one of the finest lists of waiters in this section of the country.

Mr. Torrey, the manager of the house, has made it a point to gather about him only high grade in that line and his efforts have been rewarded with success.

FIRE TEAMS DASH THROUGH FLAME

Illuminated Run of Fire Department Tonight Will Be the Most Beautiful Spectacle of the Week.

Persons who were present in Colorado Springs two years ago, upon the occasion of the illuminated run of the fire department, do not need to be told that the spectacle this evening, when the former event will be put into a shadow, will be the most beautiful and inspiring event of the entire Quarto-centennial celebration, judged from a spectacular standpoint.

The run is to be from Boulder street to Cucharas on Cascade avenue through the big grand stand near the Alta Vista hotel. The sides of the avenue will be lined with more than 300 red fire torches which will be fired by members of the Elks lodge. The run will be participated in by Chief Baty with his wagon, hose companies Nos. 1, 2 and 3, hook and ladder company No. 1, engine company No. 1, engine company No. 1 and hose company No. 1 of Colorado City.

In addition to the lights along the route of the run each piece of apparatus will be illuminated brilliantly. The magnificent silver engine which is the pride of the local department will be steamed up and will belch forth fire and sparks along the run. The scene will be one not often to be witnessed nor soon to be forgotten. The excitement will be one not often to be experienced in safety.

It will take place as soon as possible after the departure of daylight. It is likely that most of the people in town will be stationed along the line of march.

THE GRAND PARADE OF 1901.

COLORADO SPRINGS certainly did herself credit and redeemed her pledge made to her visitors and to the rest of the state in the grand historical parade yesterday afternoon. It differed somewhat in character from similar events on previous occasions, but it was very much the best parade that has ever been given in this city, when considered as a whole. This was fully attested both by visitors and by residents, and all who were in any way connected with its management or the execution of its various details are entitled to a great deal of credit for their work.

The historic floats formed the center of interest and these were admirably planned and executed. Their significance was greatly emphasized and accentuated by the presence of the Rough Riders, the Indians and the cowboys, and also by the representative floats from Colorado City, Denver and Pueblo. As for the rest of the state, nearly every city and county had its representatives in the grand stand or in the crowds that lined the streets along the route of parade.

The parade was a great success, eminently well fitted to the occasion, and it reflected honor upon the city in which it was held and upon all who were connected with it.

THE NEGROES IN MARYLAND.

IT HARDLY seems possible that anyone would venture seriously to assert that there is danger of negro supremacy in Maryland. Only about one fifth of the population is of negro race and it is not conceivable that the political situation would ever be such as to give to this minority a control of the affairs of the state.

In the platform adopted by the recent Democratic state convention there is, however, a very frank declaration of the purpose of that party to deprive the negro of a right which is guaranteed to him by the Constitution of the United States and that of the state of Maryland, and to do this, not for any assumed fear of negro domination, but for the sake of securing the control of the state government for the Democratic party. There is little if any attempt at concealment of the true purpose in the resolutions adopted by the convention.

The Democratic party represents more than 40,000 majority of the white people of Maryland. They, in common with their brethren of other states in which large masses of colored voters have been injected into the body politic, recognize that the peace, good order, personal safety and proper development of our material interests depend upon the control of the commonwealth by its intelligent white residents. Without the aid of the 60,000 colored voters, the Republican party in Maryland would be a hopeless minority.

We, therefore, without hesitation, proclaim that the success of the Democratic party will mean that, while we shall deal with perfect fairness in securing all the benefits of good government and full and free opportunities for education to all classes, such action must be taken as to prevent the control of the state government from passing into the hands of those who have neither the ability nor the interest to manage public affairs wisely and well.

It ought not to be necessary to argue with any American that these declarations are utterly inconsistent with the principle of American government. It would be just as reasonable for the Republicans of New York to adopt resolutions declaring that the Tammany voters of New York are inimical to their peace, good order, personal safety and the proper development of their material resources, and that in order to secure the success of the Republican party which is necessary to the welfare of the state, all the voters in greater New York should be disfranchised.

It has been pointed out many times since the southern states began their policy of disfranchisement that there was no place at which a safe line might be drawn when once this policy was entered upon. The same machinery of legislation or of administration which would serve to exclude the negroes might also prove effective in shutting out any party, faction or clique which might be opposed to the party in control of the state government. This is still more evident in the border states than it was in those of the far south. In Maryland it means the government of the state by a self-constituted aristocracy who are acting on the assumption that they are better qualified to conduct the government of the state than any others.

If this argument is good, then republicanism and democracy are confessed failures, and it would be well for us to start at once upon the formation of a permanent aristocracy to which should be committed the task of governing this country better than it could be done by the American people. The Gazette is not in favor of anything of the kind, either in Maryland, New York or Colorado. We believe that while universal suffrage has its faults, it is on the whole superior to any other form of government yet devised, and we hope that the true Americans of Maryland, Republican and Democratic, black and white, will be able to hold that state firm in the principles of popular government, and to defeat the schemers who are trying to overthrow the constitutional rights of their fellow-citizens.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY'S PROTEST.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY has addressed a communication to the navy department objecting to that part of the letter of instructions to the court of inquiry which refers to his "disobedience of orders." Such an objection is not reasonable and the department very properly refused to take further notice of it than to refer the matter to the court of inquiry.

The statement that Admiral Schley disobeyed his orders is not the expression of an opinion nor a comment upon the case. It is a plain statement of fact about which there cannot be any doubt by anyone who is willing to give to English words their accustomed meaning.

It is claimed by Admiral Schley and his adherents that there were good and sufficient reasons why he disobeyed his orders. It may be that there was some impossibility which justified his action; it may be that he only exercised that wise discretion which in supreme cases is confided to officers of the navy and army of independent command. However that may be, it is something for the court of inquiry to determine in connection with the other matters that have been brought to its attention.

There is no good reason why Admiral Schley or any friend of his should object to this or to the wording of the instructions of the court. Admiral Schley did disobey his orders and an official investigation of his conduct ought to include this matter.

A GOOD SPECIAL EDITION.

ONE of the most attractive special editions is that published by the Canon City Record under date of July 25. It is exceptionally well printed and generally pleasing in appearance, and the selection, arrangement and character both of the reading and the illustrations are all that might be desired by the most critical.

This edition is called a "Building Edition," and as indicated by the name, special attention is paid to the growth and development of the city in which it is published. The Record certainly succeeds in making a good showing along this line, and one that can hardly fail to produce a favorable impression even upon the casual reader. The circulation of such a paper as this is of immeasurable value to the community in which it is published, and the enterprising people of Canon City should improve their opportunity to distribute a large number of this edition. We cordially recommend it to any Gazette readers who may be interested in the present or future of Fremont county.

A NOTE OF WARNING.

DR. CHARLES GRESSWELL, chairman of the sanitary committee of the National Live Stock association, has issued a circular dealing with bovine tuberculosis and the discoveries recently made by Dr. Koch. Dr. Gresswell urges that a false view be not taken of this discovery and that there be, at least for the present, no cessation of the precautions which have been taken to prevent the transmission of disease by means of tuberculous milk or meat. The Gazette has already called attention to the fact that too much care cannot be exercised in the preparation of these important food products with a view to their absolute cleanliness, and Dr. Gresswell calls attention to the further point that even if it were shown that the bovine tubercular bacilli fail to establish a lodgment in the human frame, the poisonous products or toxins of these bacilli are almost as dangerous as the bacilli themselves.

Certainly there should be no abatement of our sanitary restrictions until we have a much better knowledge than we now possess upon this subject. When the true meaning and bearing of this discovery are fully ascertained and when the results of Dr. Koch's experiments are corroborated by other equally competent observers it will be time enough to modify our laws and ordinances, if any modification is needed, but in the meantime they should be maintained and enforced to the full extent and degree of their present strictness.

A WELCOME TO THE ROUGH RIDERS.

BY FRANK DONALDSON.

Welcome, twice welcome, ye Rough Riders bold,
Now to peaceful pursuits returned.
Ye fought and ye bled—your story's been told,
With pleasanter tasks ye're concerned.

No omen ye asked as your swords ye drew,
No sign but your country's cause.
No dread of the gloomy grave ye knew,
Nor fear nor doubt gave pause.

We know what the regiment did in the field,
What of those who "returned to Greece?"
Have they borne aloft their country's shield?
What for their country done in peace?

Your colonel's very near the highest place in our land,
On his own record proud securely he may stand.
A statesman pure, his voice stands over for the right,
In peace and war as well in council and in fight.

How splendidly another—his name is Leonard Wood,
I doubt not the gallant general wishes that he could
Be here his part to take in these deliberations sage.
Twere surely more amusing than the urgent need to wage
A daily warfare wordy with rantankerous Cuban critics,
In somewhat vain endeavor to keep them clear of musses.

Another's served his country well in Cuba's blooming land,
Blooming's not a complimentary word, but still we'll let it stand.
The regimental surgeon, your faithful Dr. Church;
To find a man of better metal surely you might search
For e'er so many moons—and well you'll surely do to toast him,
But one man in the R. R's had the awful gall to roast him.

And in the far-off Philippines there's our Richard Cushing Day,
Distinguished for his bravery and for the quiet way
He landed on a fire-eating, bluffing little scamp,
And almost single-handed took his whole bunch into camp.

How about the colonel's orderly, the dashing Gordon Johnson?
Dispatches teemed with notices how he was wont to pounce on
Filipino bodyguards, guerrillas and ladrones.
For Johnson's scouts were terrific on their tiny little ponies.

And others of your regiment has fought, alas! and died—
Soldiers they and not found wanting when in the balance tried,
Brave Luna, Keyes and Houston, how their example shone!
Upon their graves a wreath God caused them to His own.

To turn to those still living now don't forget old Brown,
Your much-beloved dominie, who simply would not down.
A Christian he, with creed so broad it spanned the Golden Rule
And mongst other things took in an ancient army mule.

Good Colonel Brodie, too, is missed, the strict old disciplinarian,
Well I recall the fearful time he really made my hair
Stand straight on end, and what a little later, do you think?
"I like you, Doctor D.," he said, "and won't you have a drink?"

Your worthy president still Bulps, but I daresay there are none
But envy him his precious scares in battle won.
And where on earth's your little Jack McGinty,
So soft of heart, but nerve exceeding flinty,
I dare assert when his time comes, straight up the Golden Stair
He'll ride his loved broncho, and old Peter'll take the pair.

A word of those now tenting round "the bivouac of the dead."
How gladly followed they the path where death and honor led!
Eternal peace be theirs. They died as soldiers do.
Your richest legacy is left by these fallen few.
Uncovered and in silence, here's to their memory dear,
And trust when called each shall as well read his own title clear.

So farewell! I know ye comrades in arms,
To August [illegible] duties [illegible]
If the blast doth sound of a war's alarms,
To new glories ye'll arise.

When that day doth come, to him once more
To your colonel, just and brave
You'll turn, for you know he'll do as of yore,
To victory lead or to the grave.

CHARGE OF THE ROUGH RIDERS.

BY ANNA B. BRANDT.

Have you heard of the charge of our gallant Rough Riders—
How they led the wild dash against Spain's hidden hosts—
How they hunted the foe from the jungle like rabbits,
And punctured the bubble of Castilian boasts?

On the heights of San Juan the Spaniards were gathered,
Surrounding their standard of sulphur and blood,
Alert to maintain their most barbarous cruelties
And stem the swift tide of Liberty's flood.

Down in the valley the Star-Spangled Banner,
Its dear colors glowing in tropical rays,
Waved o'er the ranks of its valiant defenders
Who battled to crown it with victory's bays.

The hill must be taken, the Spaniards be routed.
The blue-shirted heroes push higher and higher,
Up through the chapparal, grim and determined,
Nor daunted nor stayed by the whingering fire.

Ha! Who are these flashing by like the whirlwind
Encircling the rear and impatient to lead,
Charging like demons, amazing the enemy,
And thirsting for glory of desperate deed?

'Tis Roosevelt's Rough Riders, strange medley of manhood
Caste counting nothing in war's bloody code,
Millionaire, miner, and clubman and cowboy,
Shoulder to shoulder in fellowship strode.

The strength of the northland, the blood of the southland,
The wealth of the east and the brawn of the plains,
All banded together in valorous brotherhood,
Facing the bullets that hewed gory lanes.

"Not a man flinched," said Roosevelt. The smokeless-born missiles
Brought carnage and death from their jungle-hid source;
But the fever and fervor of justified battle—
Held the charging Rough Riders in unswerving course.

With panic and terror the Spaniards are stricken.
"What devils are these to whom war is a joke?
The harder we fire the nearer they come to us."
And the ranks of the enemy scattered and broke.

Broke! To re-form! To again be disheartened!
Dismayed by the up-surging, terrible tide,
That wave-like arose, the Riders on crest of it
A soldier-flood, sweeping the hill's bloody side.

The brave led the brave, and heroes led heroes;
The valor of patriots carried the day;
San Juan was taken, to all be the glory—
But Rough Rider troopers first blazoned the way.

At last! On the summit, old Glory [illegible]
Waves welcome to Freedom's victorious knights,
And flutters applause as tropic winds whisper
How the Rough Riders led the mad charge up the heights.

Amateur Search for Truth.

The amateur search for truth has always flourished, and is likely to flourish always in the United States. That the quest is inspiriting, amusing, sometimes highly rewarded, one may readily admit. But if it promotes individualism, it also produces the crank. If it brevets us all as philosophers, it likewise brands many of us as fools. Who does not know the amateur economist, with his "sacred ratios," or his amiable willingness to "do something for slavery," the amateur sociologist, who grows strangely confused if you ask him to define sociology; popular preachers who can refute Darwin and elucidate Jefferson "while you wait"—if you do wait; amateur critics of art and literature, who have plenty of zeal, but no knowledge of standards, no anchorage in principles; the lady amateur, who writes verses without knowing prosody, and paints pictures without learning to draw, and performs what she calls social service without training her own children either in manners or religion? Nay, are there not amateur college professors who walk gracefully through the part, but add neither to the domain of human knowledge nor to the practical efficiency of any pupil? —(The August Atlantic.

The Candian Isolation Policy.

The keynote of this new policy which has been adopted for Canada by the Liberal party now in power, says J. D. Whelpley in the August Atlantic, is to maintain, so far as the United States is concerned, the present isolation of Canada, and to cultivate closer relations with England and her colonies, and such other countries as may show considerable interest in the products of Canadian industry. The domestic phase of this new policy is to be the active development of all Canadian transportation routes; the encouragement of immigration, especially from the United States; and the development by subsidies of all industries, particularly those which can use Canadian raw material now sent to the United States for treatment.

Solid qualities of integrity, or thoroughness, should outweigh in a girl's estimate of a man mere superficial cleverness and brilliancy.—(August Ladies' Home Journal.

Tom Hazlitt to Enter the Lion's Cage

All week visitors to the Elks' fair Midway have been charmed by the darling of the trainer who daily enters the cage of Wallace, the man-eating lion.

On Saturday night Mr. Tom Hazlitt, a well-known and popular Elk, will take his life in his hands and attempt the same dangerous feat.

Wallace is said to be the only untamed lion in captivity and the statement has never been questioned. He is 25 years old. For 25 years the world's most famous trainers have exhausted their genius in the endeavor to bring him under subjection, but his will has been and fierce temper have never for a moment given way before the exertions of their trainers, three of whom lost their lives in the effort to reduce Wallace to submission.

It is said that no amateur has ever entered Wallace's cage. Many have essayed the act but all have quailed the threshold when they came face to face with the ferocious beast. So far no one has earned the standing reward payable to any one who will enter his cage.

Mr. Tom Hazlitt is noted for his courage and nerve. He has often invited danger from which any other man would shrink and, almost by miracle, came off without injury.

This deed, however, has exercised his friends to the point where they are using every power of persuasion and even threaten force to prevent him carrying out his agreement to publicly enter the cage of Wallace, the man-eater.

But through all the storm of protest, Hazlitt remains steeled in his confidence that he can accomplish what all others have failed on and insists that at 8:50 Saturday night he will enter the cage of this ferocious African lion, come what may. He has no idea whatever that Wallace shall injure him but expresses his willingness to suffer whatever consequences may attend his inability to do what Wallace's experienced trainer does with the greatest difficulty and danger.

Old animal trainers say that if persons, even matured trainers still persist in entering the cage with Wallace he will number other deaths to his already bloody list.

Tom Hazlitt's friends are praying that he may not be the next victim.

Fire Department's Great Run Tonight

One of the greatest treats the west has ever seen will be witnessed tonight when the fire department gives its great illuminated run.

Immediately after dark, about 8 o'clock, the entire department will turn out for an exhibition run on Cascade avenue, starting at Boulder and going to Cucharras.

The line of the run will be guarded by members of the E18A bearing torches and leading into the ale a dazzling shower of fire works.

Each engine, wagon and cart will be brilliantly illuminated with colored torches, fuses, colored lights and boxes of red fire, which is intended to entirely envelop and hide from sight the vehicles themselves.

The entire street will be a mass of fire and flame for the entire six blocks and the fire apparatus dashing down its center with all the appearance of a rapidly running mass of fire will present a most weird and fascinating appearance.

No such display as this has ever been made in any western city.

It is a sight well worth going many miles to see.

Every visitor to the city today should stay over long enough to witness this magnificent spectacle.

The chance may never come again.

Century Chest Dedication Tomorrow

The dedication of the "Century Chest," transmitting to our townspeople of the year 2001, letters and photographs descriptive or illustrative of our life of today, will take place at Perkins Fine Arts hall, Sunday, at 4 p. m. No special invitations have been issued. Everyone will be welcome. The ceremonies will consist of the singing of hymns especially written for the occasion and the principal address will be delivered by Mr. Louis R. Ehrich. Rev. Dr. Braislin will preside. The singing will be led by Mrs. J. S. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. Crampton and Tom Richards. Mr. Walter F. Crosby will preside at the organ. Inasmuch as it has been thought that it would prove of interest to our descendants to know who was present at these dedication ceremonies, it has been decided to include in the chest the visiting card or the name of every person attending. It is therefore requested that all will deliver their visiting card or a paper with their name written thereon to one of the attendants at the entrance of the hall. The ceremonies will begin promptly at 4 o'clock.

Fine Offices in the Antlers Hotel

John W. Proudfit & company have opened up a commodious suite of offices in the basement of the Antlers hotel. The office consists of a large, well-furnished customers' room, with exchange blackboard where reports are received over the firm's private wires. There are also several private offices and a telegraph room.

John W. Proudfit & company is one of the oldest brokerage firms in this city. The first pamphlet of the Cripple Creek district was issued by them, and distributed all over the world. It was translated into the leading continental languages, and through the information contained therein, many foreign investors first became interested in Cripple Creek. The conservative methods that have characterized this establishment from the very first, have resulted in the building up of one of the most prosperous and reliable mining firms that operates in this city.

WANTS TO LOCATE LONG LOST UNCLE

The following letter came to the Gazette yesterday:

East Cleveland, O., July 29, 1901.

Editor Colorado Gazette:

Dear Sir—In order to make it an object for any person who may have known of my uncle, John Borrow, to write me the particulars I hereby offer $25 for the first information received which will enable me to trace him and ascertain the circumstances of his death, which we have been indirectly informed occurred about four years since.

My father and my uncle, John Borrow were favorite brothers, but for a time Uncle John was lost sight of in the west and now my father's one desire is to learn of him.

John Borrow sailed from Plymouth, England, in the Dalla in 1848, landed at Quebec and engaged in the conveyance business, leaving Quebec about 18 months later for the states, then at the time of the California gold fever going west, becoming interested in mining and in stock raising.

He was a rather large man of good appearance, well educated and able, but rather reserved in manner of some might say eccentric, but always a good friend.

Uncle John was fond of traveling and has been all over the west. If alive at this time he would be 75 years of age.

If you never knew my uncle will you kindly aid us in our search by making these facts known to the many readers of your valuable publication, asking other Colorado papers to kindly copy?

Trusting that some one may soon be entitled to our $25, I am,

Yours sincerely,
Harry Borrow.

MINISTER WU WRITES OF AMERICAN PRESS

Wu Ting Fang, the Chinese minister to this country, is a warm admirer of American newspapers. E. E. Rittenhouse of this city received a letter yesterday from Mr. Wu in which he comments upon the fairness of the papers in this country in dealing with the Chinese question. The minister says:

"I cannot help expressing my appreciation of the general fairness of the American press in discussing the different questions which have arisen from the situation of affairs in China. Almost all the newspapers in this country, I am happy to say, have endeavored to give both sides of every question, and have shown a commendable disposition to obtain trustworthy information. The American people may be depended upon to do what is right if they are in the possession of all the facts. This important service is being rendered by the American press."

MEETINGS FOR THE STUDY OF PROPHECY

On Sunday afternoons at 3 o'clock a meeting is held at the First Christian church for the study of prophecy and the future life. The subject tomorrow, by Stephen Wright, will be "The Three Appearings of Jesus Christ." The meetings are free and undenominational and all, including visitors to the city, will be heartily welcomed. Time will be given at the close for questions and observations upon the subject in general, the object being to deepen interest in "things that must shortly come to pass."

[illegible] first boats was the flag [illegible] Riders. On suggestion [illegible] of Lieutenant Colonel [illegible] was taken to the top of [illegible] to be raised as a [illegible] landing had been e[illegible] [illegible] regiment, Dr. LaMotte [illegible] Wright of Arizona and [illegible] Platt. They were [illegible] and Marshall, a New [illegible] correspondent, seriously [illegible] days later at Guasimas.

After several failures, they succeeded in lashing the pole to the surmounting flagstaff of the blockhouse.

As the flag blew out in the breeze, there came on one of the most dramatic episodes of the war. The Rough Riders were on the great transport Yucatan, close to the shore. An Arizona captain had seen the small party winding up the path to the top and had noted their maneuvers. He first noted the raising of the flag. As the wind caught its folds he snatched up a field glass and saw the streaming ribbons, then threw his hat to the deck, jumped to the top of the bulwark and yelled: "Howl, ye Arizona men—it's our flag up there!" And the men howled as only Arizona cowboys could, delirious in their joy and in the pride of their patriotism. Someone on the hurricane deck grabbed the whistle cord and tied it down, the band of the Second Infantry whisked up instruments and played "A Hot Time" on the inspiration of the moment, every man who had a revolver emptied it over the side. Almost in an instant every whistle of the 30 transports and supply vessels in the harbor took up the note of rejoicing. Twenty thousand men were cheering. A dozen bands increased the din in only immaterial degree. Then the guns of war ships on the flanks joined in in a mighty salute to the flag of the nation, harbinger of victory, emblem of liberty. No flag on land or sea ever had grander salutation. And the flag was the flag of the Arizona squadron.

The Arizona flag led the regiment on the awful day of Las Guasimas, where 3,000 entrenched Spaniards were driven back by 900 dismounted cavalrymen, it was at the front all through the heat of the battle of Kettle and San Juan hills. It waved over the trenches before Santiago and was later borne through the captured city to the transport.

At Montauk in waiting were a regimental flag and standard, but they were snubbed. The colors had "run" in the squadron flag and it had lost its beauty. Its ribbons were torn and faded. But the rents that came from the flight of a half dozen Spanish bullets only made it the more cherished and no other flag was borne till the day of muster out. Somewhere in the show rooms of the war department at Washington are flags inscribed "First U. S. Volunteer Cavalry," but they are flags that had been issued to the regiment on the near approach of muster-out and were never in service. In Santa Fe is a handsome flag, presented by New Mexicans to the second squadron of the regiment at Tampa, but it remained at Tampa with the camp guard troops and was never in action.

It was facing the real Rough Riders' flag that President McKinley [illegible] Arizona friends May 7. Among them, his personal escort for the day, were a score or more of the troopers of the now famous regiment, men to whom the faded flag is little short of holy. It has been sealed within its case, there to remain till time has crumbled it to dust.

Great Parade Was Cheered by Thousands

A DAY'S JUBILEE FOR THE PEOPLE

Throngs Heard Roosevelt on Colorado

WESTERN PROGRESS SHOWN BY GORGEOUS PAGEANT

Historical Parade a Vivid Portrayal of Mountains and Plains States Since Early Times---Floral Division a Pretty Feature.

By Louise Agnes Welck

Five cycles in the growth of the west during which come the great plains and the foothills of the mountains have been transformed by the talisman of progress from the quiet solitude of primitive settlement to the focus of exuberance of modern civilization passed in realistic and spectacular review before a multitude of the leaders of the city men and women yesterday afternoon. It was as if old Father Time had blown a bugle and presto all the splendor and glory of a dead and buried age was resurrected in all its magnificence to make a fitting setting for the sturdy young West.

The historical pageant of the Quarto-centennial celebration yesterday afternoon was the most spectacular feature of the entire celebration. It was a vivid and beautiful portrayal of the three thousand years of the city's history, from the time when the Indians roamed the canyons and hunted game in the northwest. We see the trifling village of Colorado City, with its adobe huts and its population of a few hundred souls, with its two or three stores and its saloons, and then we see the city as it is today, with its population of 30,000 souls, its wealth, its culture, its refinement, its beauty, its prosperity. Last of all we see the world's greatest artist paint the picture of the future greatness of the city of the Pikes Peak region.

The pageant was presented at the Fountain Springs over which rules Gitche Manitou.

This land was exemplified by a Indian maiden representing Manitou with his staff and all along the route cheer after cheer took from the throats of thousands. But the most enthusiastic person who witnessed the parade was Vice President Roosevelt, who was called for by the enthusiastic crowd to cheer. He enjoyed the fun as much as any boy in from the country for his first holiday. Several times the vice president had to rise and make an enthusiastic bow in response to some float to shake hands with the gallant colonel. When the old stage coach with its old driver and the broncos and old driver jerked up his horses and the coach and all had disappeared in front of the box occupied by Vice President Roosevelt and party. For a moment the street throng were arrested when out of sight they had disappeared in the mountains with the colonel on his hunting trip last fall. When the multitude rose up and cheered this hearty act of spontaneous good fellowship.

Only one accident marred the merriment of the entire afternoon. As the parade passed the grand stand the second time the coaches and stage coaches made a wild dashing race from the upper part of Cascade avenue, past the grand stand. At the farther end of the grand stand the entire parade came to a sudden halt, and soon there was a struggling heap of horses and dismounted riders. In the mix up it looked as if half the cowboys were injured. Mayor Wright of Denver and Louis Ahlers rode back to head off the rest of the riders, else the accident might have been more serious. As it was only one horse and rider dashed into the stage coach, [illegible] somewhat. The crowd became greatly incensed when the cowboy mounted the injured pony and cheered as he led it to distribute.

Vice President Roosevelt reviewed the parade from a box at the center of the west side of the grand stand. In the box were former Governor and Mrs. Adams, D. B. Fairley and Mrs. Fairley, Mayor Robinson, John C. Shields, C. Bert McClung and Mrs. McClung, Mrs. J. B. Orman, Mr. Edwards, official representative of the St. Louis exposition and members of the staff of Governor Orman and his staff.

The parade was formed at Pikes Peak and Nevada avenues. I started at about 3 o'clock and was over at 5. A troop of [illegible] police headed the procession, followed by the entire fire department. Every horse pranced with the exhilaration of strength and spirit. The engines and fire wagons glittered and reflected the brightness of every furnished part of nickel plate. The department as usual came in for many good rounds of applause.

D. V. Donaldson was grand marshal of the entire parade. The marshals of the first division of the west and southwest were Louis A. Ahlers, L. B. Eestes and D. D. Kearns. The second platoon was marshaled by W. H. Leonard, A. Hunt, W. P. Sargent, W. C. Jones and J. W. Wright. The Midland band led by big Chief Bosworth and every one of them fine as a fiddle. Their new Indian uniforms was at the head of the parade and played stirring patriotic airs all along the line of march.

Then came the historic part of the parade, one of the most beautiful spectacles ever witnessed in the state. There were thirty-one more floats in this, not including the flower show or other decorated vehicles. The first float was an exact reproduction in miniature of the largest cliff palace on the Mesa Verde. Mrs. Gilbert McClung, who has spent much time among the cliff dwellings, designed this float. The float represented a palace not as it is known from the ruins but complete and perfect, according to researches of historians and archaeologists. It is built of red sandstone cliff [illegible] in the [illegible] of the ancients and hidden from sight of their powerful enemies, the cliff dwellers, behind their crude rock hewn homes. The yellow sun baked [illegible] which towers above every cliff village was stationed at the right. Among the rocks, cliff pines and scrub oak grew as beautifully as on any sandy hillside. In the dwelling and surrounding wigwams Pueblo Indians dressed in the fashion of the cliff dwellers. All of them were busying their various arts and crafts in the loom, the potter's table and elsewhere, as was the ancestors of hundreds or thousands of years ago.

After the Cliff dwellers history tells us came the Pueblos or house Indians. In the parade this was graphically represented by a float picturing a feudal looking building, [illegible] village of Pueblos usually occupied one house the building being honeycombed into rooms that arose one story after another to the height of several hundred feet. Ladders of fiber and willows were used to enter these stone walled rooms. All of this was vividly portrayed by the artistic [illegible] of this second float. Every detail was [illegible] the scraggy growth of pine, spruce and juniper that sprouted out of the crannies between the rocks. Just outside of the pueblo [illegible] red peppers was hung to dash line fashion. Real ladders of willow were placed against the lower walls, and up near the fifth or sixth story, the ladders were painted [illegible] perfect [illegible] the perspective that [illegible] this fact. Indians [illegible] purposes were [illegible] the women engaged in domestic duties, some of them were [illegible] old [illegible] children playing [illegible] all of them as much at ease as if they were actually at home. Outside of the pueblo frisking and gambolling about on the green grass were a number of [illegible] children playing [illegible] the cliff dwellers [illegible] the pueblo [illegible] the [illegible] water the spirit of Manitou thus invoked appeared.

He cursed the treachery of Comanche and the stream in which he had drowned his brother the Shoshone and immediately [illegible] a [illegible] vapor. To record the people of the generous Shoshone boy [illegible] Sitting [illegible] the [illegible] Pythias float was a dramatic scene of the story of Damon and Pythias. Two [illegible] were erected on the float. The Knights of Pythias, Odd Fellows and Masons marched with their regalia and uniforms and dignified bearing added much to the interest and effectiveness of the parade. The Naval Guardsmen, G. A. R. Drum corps came next, followed by the veterans of the civil war. In this division were the veterans from the north and from the south side by side and marching with them were several colored veterans. Some of them were latter others had lost an arm or an eye or a limb in war, but the cheers which they gave and received were the exhibitions of loyalty and true heartedness and was forgotten in the flight of time and the cheers were [illegible] this.

Governor Orman and his staff of [illegible] on horseback followed in the parade. The staff included Adjutant General [illegible] Chaplain Pfaffle, W. B. Tutt, J. H. Bedford, H. B. Tedrow, George S. Newman, D. C. Osman, Jr., H. J. Nesmith, Eli Ward, Frank [illegible], Charles P. Stubbs, Leonard C. Jones, B. L. Calvin, W. W. Grant, Dr. Hutchins, Tarrant, West and H. N. Davis, secretary to the staff.

GOOD STRIKE ON TECUMSEH

On This Claim of the Jolly Jane Company—Sylvanite and Free Gold Have Been Found at a Depth of 176 Feet From the Surface.

At a depth of 176 feet in the prospect shaft of the Tecumseh claim, owned by the Jolly Jane company and lying next to Stratton's Independence, sylvanite and free gold have been found this week in a tale seam that has been following the shaft for some distance. It is regarded as very encouraging, as the management has not counted on striking mineral before it has drifted to the vein known to lie to the northwest. This is the first indication of a gold deposit. The shaft is now down about 180 feet and at 200 feet a station is to be cut for the important drift that is to be run. The theory of the management in sinking a deep hole on the Tecumseh is that a fault of material exists to the south of the bonanza mines lying on the lower part of Battle mountain.

NEWS FROM LA CALERA

Manager Wuensch Reports Progress of Development at the Mines—Company Will Probably Be Listed on the Local Exchange.

Word has just been received from A. F. Wuensch, manager of the Calera group of gold mines in Sonora, Mexico, that he has arrived on the ground and found that development has progressed satisfactorily during his absence. In letters to the Ramsay-C. Boyd Investment company he says he is getting ready for the construction of the mill on the San Miguel river. Plans for the same are being drawn under his supervision. At the same time freighting teams are being kept busy hauling supplies, cars and track to the mide.

A new house has just been completed on the group and Mr. Cowan, the superintendent, is steadily increasing the force of men. Gangs are to be put to work at once on other sections of the mine where the most encouraging outcroppings have been discovered. Mr. Wuensch thinks so well of the other claims that he predicts he will open up a series of pay mines on the group within a short time, although the Calera alone gives promise of producing enough to pay the company big dividends on the investment.

Since Mr. Wuensch's visit to Denver he says the projection of the second tunnel level along the vein has advanced steadily, the ore standing out much stronger. A new vein has just been met with in the tunnel from the lower level, the rock giving the most flattering assays.

One of the first acts of Manager Wuensch will be to order the completion of the wagon road extending from the mine toward the millsite on San Miguel river. One hundred and fifty rods are yet unfinished. The haul, when this distance is laid out, will be about one mile and a quarter from the property. The mill will be operated by water-power, which will prove of great advantage because of its economy. The river carries from 350 to 600 cubic feet water, enough for all future demands of the mine.

Mr. Boyd expects to apply at an early date for the listing of Calera upon the Colorado Springs exchange. The announcement of his intention has drawn the attention of brokers and mining men to Sonora, which has not had the advertisement, perhaps, that it deserves, considering that one of its districts has produced more than half as much as Cripple Creek and is comparatively undeveloped. The district referred to is that of la Prieta, which has a record of $60,000,000. It lies to the south of the La Calera group. Other camps surrounding the latter property have shown wonderful resources in the way of the precious metals, and outside investors are just now becoming awakened to these facts.

The Gazette is the Only Newspaper in the State with Its Own Private Wire to the Colorado Springs Mining Stock Exchange.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, Aug. 2.—The market today held little interest for any one. The city was so completely given over to the festivities which are celebrating the completion of 25 years of Colorado statehood and Colorado progress, that it is surprising any attention whatever was accorded to the mining stock market. But the trading was fairly good, and prices were firm and buoyant in all of the lists, with a very creditable demand on the part of outside buyers. The professional element was not very apparent, the brokers filling their orders as quickly as they could, and doing no speculation on their own account, and taking this into consideration the market yesterday offers some ground for congratulation. It is safe to assume that the day will come when in a great celebration the work of the exchange will be recognized, for it has steadily given forth its efforts to build up Cripple Creek, and Cripple Creek has been a great influence in building up Colorado. But neither Cripple Creek, nor the stocks which represent her mines, listed on the local mining exchange have seen the zenith of their prosperity.

In the lists Ist Anaconda showed some weakness at 35, but Battle Mountain was stationary at 16¾, and Doctor Jacobs to 64, closing strong at that price. Elkton was practically stationary at $1.76. El Paso was a fraction lower at 46¾, but Gold Dollar was in good demand, and sold up to 16¼, while Isabella was strong at 44. The preferred prospects were again active, with Eclipse a noticeable trader at 12½, and Mollie Dwyre was in good demand at 6¾. 30,000 shares having changed hands at that price. Union Belle sold at 7½, and Acacia was exceedingly strong on continued good reports from the mine, selling at 15¼.

TWO VALUES.

THERE are two values to every purchase what it costs and what it pays you. Cork costs 8 cents a pound, but if you are drowning half a mile from shore, its value would not what you pay for cork, but what cork saves. When a woman buys soaps she often considers the two values. She sees only what she pays, overlooks what she receives. Now a single of Ivory Soap pays back from ten to twenty its cost in the saving it effects. Test it your- Vegetable Oil Soap. Ivory white. It floats!

MILLIONAIRES FED ON ELK MEAT

There was but a small crowd at Washburn field yesterday morning to witness the defeat of the Elks by the Millionaires.

The game was a walk-over for the wealthy men, who literally played horse with the amateurs.

Bandelin pitched for six innings, shutting out the Elks and Shay finished the game. Griffith did good work in the box, but the Millionaires had little difficulty in fathoming his curves and sending long hits to the outfield. The great feature of the game was a steal by "Bones" from first to second. The long, lean, lank pitcher actually beating the ball out when thrown by Swartz from behind the bat. Parvin got a hit, too.

The Elks' only run was made by Swartz on a three-bagger and a poor throw to third. Shoab relieved McMahan at second in the fifth inning. The score by innings was as follows:

Millionaires	1 2 3 2 3 0 0 1 * — 12
Elks	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 — 1

VERY ANNOYING

This Hardly Expresses What Colorado Springs People Say of It.

Any itchiness of the skin is annoying.

Little danger in itching skin diseases. But they make you miserable.

Doan's Ointment is a never-failing cure.

For piles, eczema, all itching troubles, Colorado Springs citizens indorse it.

Mr. E. E. Griswold of 316 East Huerfano street says: "I had occasion to use Doan's Ointment. Before I went to Jones & Williamson's drug store, 103 N. Tejon street, for it I had used everything that heretofore came to my notice. [illegible] the trouble was not even checked, let alone cured. Doan's Ointment did as promised. It is worth many times its cost."

For sale by all dealers; price, 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

THRONGS HEARD ROOSEVELT SPEAK

proud. It is a record of men who greatly dared and greatly did; a record of wanderings wider and more dangerous than those of the Vikings; a record of endless feats of arms, of victory after victory in the ceaseless strife waged against wild men and wild nature. The winning of the west was the great epic theme in the history of our race.

We have then a right to meet today in a spirit of just pride in the hardy, stalwart, resolute men who with indescribable toil and risk laid deep the foundations of the civilization that we inherit. Let us steadily remember that the only homage that counts is the homage of deeds, not merely of words. It is well to gather here to show that we remember what has been done in the past by the western pioneers of our people, and that we glory in the greatness for which they prepared the way. But lip loyalty by itself avails very little, whether it is expressed concerning a nation or an ideal. It would be a sad and evil thing for this country if ever the day came when we considered the great deeds of our forefathers as an excuse for our resting slothfully satisfied with what has been already done. On the contrary, they should be an inspiration and appeal, summoning us to show that we, too, have courage and strength; that we, too, are ready to dare greatly if the need arises; and above all that we are firmly bent upon that steady performance of every-day duty which in the long run is of such incredible worth in the formation of national character.

The old iron days have gone; the days when the weakling died as the penalty of inability to hold his own in the rough warfare against his surroundings. We live in softer times. Let us see to it that while we take advantage of every gentler and more humanizing tendency of the age we yet preserve the iron quality which made our forefathers and predecessors fit to do the deeds they did. It will of necessity find a different expression now; but the quality itself remains just as much as ever. Surely you men of the west, you men who with stout heart, cool head and ready hand have wrought out your own success and built up these great new commonwealths, surely you need no reminder of the fact that if either man or nation wishes to play a great part in the world, there must be no dallying with the life of lazy ease. In the abounding energy and intensity of existence in our mighty democratic republic there is small space indeed for the idler, for the luxury-loving man who prizes ease more than hard, triumph-crowned effort.

We hold work, not as a curse, but as a blessing and we regard the idle with scornful pity. It would be in the highest degree undesirable that we should all work in the same way or at the same things; and for the sake of the real greatness of the nation we should in the fullest and most cordial way recognize the fact that some of the most needed work must, from its very nature, be unremunerative in a material sense. Each man must choose so far as the conditions allow him, the path to which he is bidden by his own peculiar powers and inclinations. But if he is a man he must in some way or shape do a man's work. If, making all the effort that his strength of body and of mind permit, he yet honorably fails, he is still entitled to a certain share of respect because he has made the effort. But if he does not make the effort, or if he makes it half-heartedly and recedes from the labor, the risk, or the mere irksome monotony of his task, why he has forfeited all right to our respect and has proven himself a mere cumberer of the earth's surface. It is not given to us all to succeed, but it is given to us all to strive manfully to deserve success.

We need, then, the iron qualities that must go with true manhood. We need the positive virtues of resolution, of courage, of indomitable will, of power to do without shrinking the rough work that must always be done, and to persevere through the long days of slow progress or of seeming failure which always come before any final triumph, no matter how brilliant. But we need more than these qualities. This country cannot afford to have its sons less than men, but neither can it afford to have them other than good men. If courage and strength and intellect are unaccompanied by the moral purpose, the moral nature, they become merely forms of expression for unscrupulous force and unscrupulous cunning. If the strong man has not in him the lift towards lofty things his strength makes him only a curse to himself and to his neighbor. All this is true in private life and it is no less true in public life. If Washington and Lincoln had not had in them the whipcord fiber of moral and mental strength, the soul that fits them to endure disaster unshaken and with grim resolve to wreak victory from defeat, then the one could not have founded, nor the other preserved, our mighty federal union. The least touch of flabbiness, unhealthy softness, in either, would have meant ruin for this nation, and therefore the downfall of the proudest hope of mankind. But no less is it true that, had either been influenced by self-seeking ambition, by callous disregard of others, by contempt for the moral law, they would have dashed us down into the black gulf of failure. Woe to all of us if ever, as a people, we grow to condone evil because it is successful. We can no more afford to lose social and civil decency and honesty than we can afford to lose the qualities of courage and strength. It is the merest truism to say that the nation rests upon the individual, upon the family; rests upon individual manliness and womanliness, using the words in their widest and fullest meaning.

To be a good husband or good wife, a good neighbor and friend, to be hard-working and upright in business and social relations, to bring up many healthy children, to be and to do all this, is to lay the foundations of good citizenship as they must be laid. But we cannot stop even with this. Each of us has not only his duty to himself, his family and his neighbors, but his duty to the state and to the nation. We are in honor bound each to strive according to his or her strength to bring ever nearer the day when justice and wisdom shall obtain in public life as in private life. We cannot retain the full measure of our self-respect if we cannot retain pride in our citizenship. For the sake not only of ourselves but of our children and our children's children we must see that this nation stands for strength and honesty, both at home and abroad. In our internal policy we cannot afford to rest satisfied until all that the government can do has been done to secure fair dealing and equal justice as between man and man. In the great part which hereafter whether we will or not, we shall play in the world at large, let us see to it that we neither do wrong nor shrink from doing right because the right is difficult; that on the one hand we inflict no injury, and that on the other we have a due regard for the honor and the interest of our mighty nation; and that we keep unsullied the renown of the flag which beyond all others of the present time or of the ages of the past stands for confident faith in the future welfare and greatness of mankind.

After the address was ended the throngs melted away and the vice president was escorted to the Antlers and assigned to a suite of rooms. After luncheon he attended the annual reunion of the Rough Riders' association.

A YOUNG LADY'S LIFE SAVED

At Panama, Colombia, by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Dr. Charles H. Litter, a prominent physician of Panama, Colombia, in a recent letter states: "Last March I had as a patient a young lady 16 years of age, who had a very bad attack of dysentery. Everything I prescribed for her proved ineffectual and she was growing worse every hour. Her parents were sure she would die. She had become so weak that she could not turn over in bed. What to do at this critical moment was a study for me, but I thought of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and as a last resort prescribed it. The most wonderful result was effected. Within eight hours she was feeling much better; inside of three days she was upon her feet and at the end of one week was entirely well." For sale by all druggists.
